The United Methodist Church of Patchogue

May 2011

Edited By George Hoag

This month I want to give my precious daughter this space so that she might share her testimony, as an example to all of persistence and determination.

Jelixa has been accepted at Oneonta College and will soon be leaving us. Here's Jelixa's Essay:

Reaching Your Goals: Challenges

My life has always been full of surprises. As a little girl I never thought I would end up as a pastor's daughter. When I was around nine years old my father became a pastor, little did I know that the adventure had just started. When my father started as a pastor we were living in Puerto Rico, where I was born. My family was a part of my father's first church for about five years. In 2006 we found out that my father had been asked to be a pastor at a church in Franklin Square, New York. I had mixed emotions at the time. I was excited about living in New York, excited about seeing snow for the first time in my life, and I was excited about living in a place that I always dreamed of visiting.

Although I was excited I was also very scared, I asked myself many questions such as: What about my family, my grandparents, my aunts and uncles, my cousins, my friends? Can I just leave them all behind? Will I fit in? What if all of a sudden I couldn't remember how to speak English? Will I make any friends? Next thing I knew there was no time for worrying because I was on a plane on my way to JFK airport and there was no turning back.

Once I started school in New York I realized how much I loved it, I was glad that I made friends very fast and I was having no problems understanding my new teachers, which was one of my biggest fears. I loved my father's new church, everyone made us feel like we were part of their family, and they made us feel welcomed. Little did I know that I wasn't going to be living in this new place for much longer. In 2009 my father got a call that informed him that in two weeks we were being moved to a different church. My entire family was devastated as this came as a surprise. No one wanted to move, I wanted to finish high school there with all my friends, my brother loved his school and didn't want to leave, my mother a couple of days earlier had been informed that she had gotten her dream job ten minutes away from the house, she was devastated, and my father loved his church as well as the rest of us.

It was harder than ever to say goodbye to all my friends. We moved to Central Islip, New York then. New house, new friends, new school, this is when I realized and finally accepted that this was part of my life; this is the way we live. A year later we were placed at a different church in Patchogue, New York; this is where I live currently. I love my new place and I am glad that I will spend my senior year in a great school, surrounded by great friends, and attending a new loving church.

Even though being a Pastor's daughter comes with some sacrifices, I am glad that I can be part of the experience. Due to the fact that I am a Pastor's daughter I have gotten the opportunity to see different places, meet different people, have new experiences that have made me who I am today, and made some long lasting friendships with very important people in my life. Being a pastor's daughter has put some challenges in my way that have only taught me life lessons, and have helped me become a stronger more focused person. I've been through many challenges I have always looked at the bigger picture and nothing has prevented me from overcoming any problems to reach my goals in life.

Stewardship

Now that we have celebrated Easter and Christ's resurrection, let us continue on with doing the Lord's work. Many good things are happening at church. We are receiving grants that are helping our financial situation and to feed the hungry.

At Bible Study on Mar. 23, while a sleet and lightening storm raged, a woman entered Wesley Hall. She asked if we knew of somewhere that her friend could take shelter for the night. Since we can not house people overnight at the church, our group did not have an answer to her plea. The best we could think of was for them to go to the 5th Precinct for help. After she left, we realized that information for helping people in need of shelter should be posted at the church. A bulletin board with that information is now placed next to the outside door near the office. It is not recommended that you transport anyone you do not know in your car. If the shelters listed cannot help or pick up the person, you can call the 5th Precinct and they will send a car, by priority, to transport the person to a shelter.

People occasionally come to the office asking for emergency food when the Food Pantry is not open. At the next Bible Study, Debbie and Don Kolacki discussed this situation and suggested assembling emergency food bags. Chris, our Administrative Assistant, had talked to Debbie about this, and had already contacted a small Girl Scout Troop and later a Boy Scout Troop. With the need for food bags addressed, the need for hygiene products was answered by the State Department of Social Services. They will be sending us hygiene packets that we can pass out with the emergency food bags. If in the near future you are in church and someone comes to the door asking for food or shelter, please go into the tall wood cabinet (opposite the office door) and give them emergency supplies. Thank you.

We have a vibrant and dedicated MYF in our church. In March they hosted a Meatball & Spaghetti Dinner and thirty-hour famine, raising $850 for Haitian Relief. This mission project was planned before the earthquake and tsunami in Japan. April found them at a District wide MYF Retreat at Camp Quinipet on Shelter Island. We had eighteen of our youth plus a number of parents join in that great event. Carla Gibson would like to thank all who helped to make this a success. Our youth would like to thank those members of the congregation who provided funds to help make this weekend possible for all of them to go.

The MYF enjoy the fun events scheduled for each month. In May they will have an indoor laser tag event, the date to be announced. They also work hard to support our church and its programs. Each month several youth volunteer to help at the Wesley Dinners. They worked at the Palm Sunday Breakfast and the Easter plant sale. They will be involved in the Dinner Theater on May 14. Many of us older members appreciate their energy, enthusiasm and help at the many events each year. The MYF had to postpone the trip to Six Flags, Great Adventure in June due to the conflicts with so many other events.

There are a large number of hard working individuals who define our church.

Janice LeBlanc prepares the LINK each month for mailing. Janice, together with June Barile and Valerie Ward helped our church with its first major Chinese Auction and all those since. Their passion is Cat Placement & Rescue. They would like to thank all who have donated food, bedding or money for our furry friends. At any one time they are taking care of some seventy cats.

The Chinese Auction this Fall will be held in Wesley Hall. By using our own facility we hope to maximize the income from this fund raiser. June would like everyone to begin thinking of items that can be used in this next event. If you have items that you cannot store until the fall, please bring them to church and we will find a place for them. If you need them picked up, please call the office 475-0381 or Dave Hollowell, 475-5339, and we will make arrangements to pick them up. Thanks.

June organized our first Christian Music Concert on March 26, 2011. It was a great night with seven talented musicians and singers that had us singing and dancing in the aisles. The group Rev 7, Hill & Ward and the sensational Patrizia Delorenzo made it truly a night to remember. The concert was recorded and telecast live on the internet (U Stream). This concert was the first in a series that June will bring to our church.

Our internet angel is Bonnie Abbott. She has been busy contacting any group or individual who might help our church and its many programs. There are several grants pending from large Corporations. We did receive a $10,000 grant from the Knapp/Swezey Foundation partly

The Quiet Ministries

As you know, I have the privilege of serving as your Financial Secretary. It is a job that requires a certain amount of diligence, a modicum of training in the fine art of accounting, but most importantly, a sense of humor. It also requires me to stand up in church periodically to ask for money, which is way out of my comfort zone. I guess that's where the humor comes in.

It is a commitment—or a ministry, if you will—that I do to the best of my ability, because it's a part of the life and needs of our church. The other side of the coin is that, while I am pretty good with numbers, I am often sorely lacking in people skills, compassion, and humility, and to learn these traits I have to rely on all of you. This learning often comes in the darndest fashion, and I'd like to share one of these “quiet ministries” that has made a true and wonderful difference in my life.

Last summer I went in for what I thought would be a pretty straightforward medical procedure—the biopsy of some lymph nodes around my heart that were inflamed. Unbeknownst to me or anyone else, I also had (and have) a significant heart issue, which manifested itself as heart failure right there on the operating room table. For the next three months, it was just a whirlwind of fun and discovery for me.

However, God blessed me with miracles during that time. I was given the twin gifts of forgiving myself and letting go of resentments towards others – if you've never struggled with either of them, you can't begin to know the freedom of having them removed. And, after over 50 years, for the first time I truly allowed Jesus into my heart, with all the joys and peace that have resulted. Not all the time, and nowhere near perfectly, but enough to make a difference.

But as you all know, God does most of his work through other people. In this case, it was the Prayer Shawl ministry of Kathie Loris and Denise Whalen. I will never forget seeing the two shawls up on the alter (light blue and rust-colored), and thinking to myself “I love the rust-colored shawl – I wonder who gets that one?” When Denise presented it to me, I was blown away, overcome with emotion, almost in tears, and feeling very, very humble. And in that very simple yet elegant gift, I once again felt the touch and grace of God.

“God blessed me with miracles”

That shawl is on my bed at home. Maybe, a la “Mr. Mom”, it's my “wub-bie”. Sometimes, when it's cold, I lay it across my chest. Other times I just touch it, smile, and think of all of you. And last night, when I was having a big problem with the seemingly simple act of just drawing a breath, I clutched it to my chest and prayed, and that's how I went to sleep. It is a simple, unselfish, beautiful gift, and it has made a very real and powerful difference in my life.

I've never had a church that I really thought of as my own. While I may disagree and squabble with some of you from time to time, it doesn't affect the underlying love and appreciation I have for all of you. I guess I'm simply trying to thank you all for doing the many little things that, with God's touch, become big things—and when you get right down to it, isn't that what a ministry really is?

Wesley Dinners

Our first food distribution from Island Harvest was quite interesting. Not knowing what to expect, five of us, in three vehicles, showed up on that Thursday morning at the Bellport Outlet. We were at least a half hour early, but the day was mild and sunny, and the company was good. When the truck arrived, we signed in, took our turn with the other churches and organizations who were there, and were pleasantly surprised to receive twelve boxes of fresh chicken cutlets! Believe me, that's a lot of chicken! That enabled our chef, Steve Shadbolt, to provide a wonderful meal of chicken piccata the following week, Mar. 24, and, since the freezers are still stocked with the thin sliced cutlets, we can anticipate some more delicious chicken dinners.

At the last meeting of the Steering Committee, we decided to project expanding our monthly dinners to twice monthly, beginning in September of this year. Therefore, Wesley Dinners would take place on the 2nd and 4th Thursdays of each month. Before we get there, however, certain things need to be in place. We need to have an alternate chef and sous chef. Steve and Lenny are awesome, but we don't want to burn them out. We need to be sure there are sufficient volunteers to fill the other work duties, and, last but not least, we have to be sure we have enough financial and food resources to cover both dinners.

Update on Loaves and Fishes

Thanks to the initiative of church member Bonnie Abbott, we are hoping to receive a grant of $2,000 from county legislator Jack Eddington's office. This will help us achieve that goal of twice monthly dinners.

Dinner And A Show

The church will be hosting its first murder mystery dinner theater at 5 PM on Saturday, May 14. Tickets are $35 per person or $40 per couple. Food donations, especially desserts, will be gladly accepted and will bring a $5 discount on your ticket. Our MYF will be participating. Child care will be available.

The play "A Family to Die For" was written by Lawrence Boddy. Larry's roots in Patchogue go back many generations. He is donating his play, production expertise, recruiting actors who will donate their talents, and is one of the main characters. There are a few female parts available for members of our congregation. If interested or for more information please call me at 475-5339. Please invite your friends to join you. Enjoy a great fun night out, while raising money to replace our 100 year-old tired old boiler. See you there.

Hearings on Radicalization of Muslims Condemned

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The United Methodist General Board of Church & Society is among more than 20 faith groups that stood “shoulder to shoulder” to protest the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Homeland Security’s series of hearings examining “radicalization” in the American Muslim community.

The faith leaders announced their objection March 10, following the committee’s first hearing. They said “Shoulder-to-Shoulder: Standing with American Muslims; Upholding American Values” is a campaign of national faith-based organizations and religious denominations to promote tolerance and put an end to anti-Muslim bigotry.

We stand united with all Americans in urging our elected representatives to act, not against a single, unfairly maligned group.

Rep. Peter King, R-N.Y., chair of the Committee on Homeland Security, has been accused of “modern-day McCarthyism.” Dozens of civil rights, national security and faith-based organizations have objected to the singling out of one community of faith, charging that it is contrary to the U.S. value of religious freedom.

After introducing “Shoulder-to-Shoulder” at a press conference, its proponents said they would spend the afternoon and early evening meeting with members of Congress and White House officials. They intended to express their concerns about rising anti-Muslim rhetoric and sentiment, particularly from representatives of government.

The faith leaders said they gathered to “affirm that we stand united with all Americans in urging our elected representatives to act, not against a single, unfairly maligned group, but against all forms of violence and extremism that endanger our security.”

False witness

They called it false witness to assert that Muslims as a broad group are not deeply devoted to America’s safety and the peaceful interaction of its entire citizenry.

The rationale for these hearings rests on an assertion that the American Muslim community has failed to support American law enforcement in its efforts against terrorism, according to the faith leaders. They said this assertion is false, and cited a study by Duke University indicating that “the largest single source of initial information” in helping prevent terrorist attacks were members of the Muslim community.

“We urge the members of our government as well as citizens of good will to refrain from passing judgment on religious or faith groups based on the actions of the few who pervert their spiritual traditions through acts of violence and hostile rhetoric,” the faith leaders said. “We believe that politicians, cultural figures and members of the media are never justified in exploiting religious differences in order to advance ideological or political aims.”

Endorsers of “Shoulder-to-Shoulder” include American Baptist Churches USA, Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), The Episcopal Church, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, Islamic Society of North America, National Council of Churches, Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism, Unitarian Universalist Assn. of Congregations, Sojourners, The United Church of Christ, and United States Conference of Catholic Bishops.

through Bonnie’s efforts. Another grant of $2000 is expected to support our Wesley Dinners through a request by County Legislator Jack Eddington. Thank you Bonnie and keep on searching.

The Knapp/Swezey Foundation’s grant has provided the funds to promote another matching grant campaign. A few years ago the generous gift of $10,000 from an anonymous church member, allowed us to have our first matching grant campaign.

Tom Bracken, our Finance Secretary, championed the last campaign. It ended successfully with more than $10,000 being raised. Tom is running this matching grant campaign and using “bricks” to fill an outline of the church. These will be in $50, $100 or larger amount bricks. Already $1,350 had been donated for the new campaign. Please buy your brick and let us match this new grant.

Our major fund raiser for the church is the Golf Outing. This will be our sixth Outing and will be held at the Calverton Links on May 25. Each year we need volunteers to make gift baskets that are auctioned off at the dinner. Linda Werner is coordinating the basket making and would appreciate hearing from you. Please call her at 730-3674 or talk to her at church. There will be a 1 PM shotgun start. The package includes lunch, beverage cart, cocktail hour and choice of steak or Lobster dinner. If you would like to play or know of someone who might, please invite them to join us. For more information call the office 475-0381. Join us for a really great day in the sun.

Address Service Requested

United Methodist Women

On April 1, 2011, a very dear lady, Connie Halliwell, passed from this physical world into the spiritual. In addition to being a loving mother and matriarch of her large extended family, Connie was an integral part of UMW for many years. Twice president, missions coordinator, fair organizer, she was part of that wonderful generation of women in this church that had (and have) an unshakeable commitment to mission and to serving others. She worked hard to do God's work, and did so with grace, kindness, and unflinching good humor. We will miss her radiant smile and generous spirit (and great hats).

A reminder: On June 11, at 4 p.m., the UMW will present a high tea for all women of the church, of all ages. In addition to enjoying a variety of teas, yummy scones and other tasty treats, we will have a program which will celebrate the awesome women who have gone before us, and culminate with a lively auction.

Another reminder: Our regular May meeting will be on May 21, 9:30 a.m. All welcome.

Final reminder: Ladies, look for the invitation to the 2nd Mother's Day Lunchless Luncheon. For the nominal sum of $10.00, you can remain home in your jammies, and consider all the good you are doing.
